MR. CLAY'S BILL.—It will be seen that this Bill is likely to be the beginning of contention.—The Comptroller of the Treasury has put a construction upon this Bill, which at once deprives our manufacturers of all the benefits of the Minimum System.

The following explanation of the two modes of calculating the duties is taken from the Baltimore American:—

"The principle of the law is, that from all duties existing at the passage of the law, one tenth of the excess over twenty per cent.,ad valorem, is to be deducted biennially;—as, where any duty was 50 per cent., the deduction is to be one tenth of 30 per cent., or three per cent., and the new duty is forty seven per cent.

The first difficulty arose out of the system of minimums. Certain descriptions of goods had, under that system, two values;—one, the foreign cost, and the other an artificial value established by the law. An instance in point most pertinent to the new dispute, is that of cottons, which, if dyed, colored, painted, or stained,—whatever might be their cost, if less than 35 cents per square yard, —were rated at 35 cents, and the duty of twenty five per cent., ad valorem, estimated upon that.—The result was, that every yard of cottons, costing less than 35 cents, paid uniformly 8 3-4 cents duty. Where the actual foreign cost was eight cents, for instance, the duty was nominally twenty five per cent., but in fact, nearly one hundred and ten per cent. It was, therefore, an important matter for decision, and the phraseology of the law allows of doubt on the subject, whether the tenths of excess over twenty per cent. on the value of the goods were to be calculated on the real, or on the legal artificial value.

In the case we have cited, the tenths of excess over the legal value would be estimated on the difference between twenty and twenty five per cent.; the reduction would be one half per cent., and the new duty 24 1-2 per cent., on the minimum valuation. The actual reduction would be a small fraction of a cent—a tenth of the difference between 7 and 8 3-4—and the duty would never fall below seven cents per yard, being twenty per cent. on thirty five cents. In the other mode of calculation, the tenths would be calculated on the difference between twenty per cent. and one hundred and ten per cent., that is, the tenth of ninety per cent. The reduction of nine per cent. would leave the new duty about one hundred and one per cent. on the foreign cost. The actual reduction would be a tenth of the difference between 1 and 6 10ths cents and 8 3-4 cents, and the ultimate duty would be 1 and 6-10 cents.

As an illustration of this view, we make the following table of the result of this different mode of calculation, in the case of 10,000 yards of British cottons, the foreign cost of which is 8 cents per yard.

The old duty—twenty five per cent. on the minimum of thirty five cents—is 8 3-4 cents per yard, amounting to	$875
Twenty per cent. on the same minimum, is	700
Difference,	$175

One tenth of this difference, or $17 50, is the amount of reduction, retaining the minimum; and the duty payable now, would be $857 50. The final duty would be $700.

Now take the other view:—

The old duty as before,	$875
Twenty per cent, on the actual foreign cost, at 8 cts.	160
Difference,	$715

One tenth of which, $71 50, is the amount of reduction. The amount now payable under this construction, is therefore $803 50, and the final amount will be but $160.

The Circular of the Secretary, seems to decide the point very plainly in favor of this latter construction. It is unequivocal in its instructions, that the ultimate rate of duty is "not to exceed twenty per centum upon the real and not the assumed value of the articles imported."

From the Advocate.

To Messrs. Way, Butler, and others, members composing the Select Council of the city of Pittsburgh, at their meeting of the 11th Jan. 1834.

GENTLEMEN:—This morning I received, from Mr. Pentland, the Clerk of our Council, a copy of your very kind vote of approbation of my conduct, as President of your Board, during the past year, for which I return to you my most cordial thanks.

The habits of good order, decorum, and moderation, which have always attended the proceedings of the Select Council, leave but little for the Chair to perform, when every member knows and does his duty; but your assurance that I have discharged mine to your satisfaction, gives me very great pleasure indeed; for the commendation of those we esteem and value, is the most precious reward of all our services, public and private.

Accept, I entreat you, the assurance of my high respect for you all, and that I remain your very grateful and most obedient servant,

JAMES ROSS.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 13, 1834.

The election of Mr. Tazewell, as Governor of Virginia, shakes the Globe. The gentleman is known to entertain a strong contempt and aversion for the Kitchen Cabinet. His election is symptomatic—his influence, (always great in Virginia,) will serve to expedite and complete that salutary change of feeling and opinion in reference to Jacksonism, which is already so diffusive.—*Nat. TWENTY THIRD CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE NEW TARIFF.

January 10.—In the Senate, Mr. Frelinghuysen offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to inform the Senate of the construction which has been given, by that Department, to the act passed at last session of Congress, entitled "an act, to modify the act of the 14th July, 1832, and all other acts imposing duties on imports;" and also to furnish copies of such instructions as may have been given to collectors, regulating their duty under the said act.

Mr. Frelinghuysen asked for the consideration of the resolution at this time, it being important to obtain early information as to the construction put by the Treasury Department on the Tariff Act of 1832. Different constructions had been put on the act, and it was important to determine which is the correct one.

Mr. Clay expressed his gratification with the presentation of the resolution under consideration, by the gentleman from New Jersey. He had himself received information from two of our most important Northern ports, according to which, a most unexpected and unjustifiable construction has been given, by the Treasury Department, to the Compromise Act of the last session. It will be recollected, by the Senate, that, by the act of 1832, cotton fabrics are subject to a duty of 25 per cent. ad valorem, and to a further duty, in the form of minimums of 30 cents and 35 cents. The compromise act of the last session provides for a biennial reduction of ten per cent. upon all duties imposed by previous acts.

It dispenses with no existing duties upon protected articles, but, from the first of January, 1834, subjects them all, without specifying their denomination, to the reduction for which it provides. During the passage of the act, the opinion was expressed, both by the gentleman from Massachusetts, near me, (Mr. Webster) and by myself, one supporting and the other opposing the bill, that the contemplated reduction would operate only on the 25 per cent. ad valorem, and not on the minimums in the case of the article of cotton, which would remain unaffected. He (Mr. Clay) had heard with some surprize, before the meeting of Congress, that, notwithstanding this cotemporaneous interpretation of the act, Secretary M'Lane had decided that the direction applied both to the minimums and to the 25 per cent.

But, sir, I cannot find language to express the astonishment excited in my mind, by the reception of intelligence yesterday, confirmed by concurring information received this day, that the Treasury Department has undertaken, by interpretation, to dispense altogether with the minimums, and, by one fatal spring, to bring the cotton duty down from about 80 per cent. to 24 1-2 per cent. ad valorem! If this information be true, (and he still hoped there might be a mistake about it) certain ruin, and inevitable destruction are, at this moment impending over the greater part of our cotton manufactures, and especially the important branch of the printing business. And if such an interpretation as is supposed, has been given, we cannot too soon know it, nor too promptly apply the proper remedy. Should a remedy be necessary, I shall call, with entire confidence, upon the good faith, the honor, and the probity of Congress, and particularly upon the Southern portion of it, to preserve our work of peace unviolated, and to avert the threatened destruction of great and pervading interests. For himself, (said Mr. C.) he was desirous to see the act of the last session executed honestly and faithfully, and to see a fair experiment made of the system for which it provides.

Mr. Webster said, that the subject under consideration had never come to his knowledge until this morning. He had learned this morning that a construction, such as had been stated by the Senator from Kentucky, had been put on the law of the last session; and he agreed that such a construction, on the part of the Treasury, would produce the prostration of the entire cotton manufactory, except, probably, that of those of the coarsest quality. Such was the character of the information which he had received this morning, from those who had seen this construction, and seen it with wonder and dismay. It was true, as stated by the Senator from Kentucky, that, when this bill was before the Senate at the last session, he, Mr. Webster, had expressed the opinion which the gentleman had attributed to him. It was equally true, that he had, at the time, considered it as a question on which the minds of gentlemen might reasonably have doubt. He spoke, at the time, to the Senator from Delaware, near him, (Mr. Naudain,) and also to the Senator from Connecticut, (Mr. Tomlinson) asking them to express, in writing, their construction of the act. They complied, and their construction agreed with that of the Senator from Kentucky and himself. But he then explained to them that there was another construction, a very improper one he agreed, but which might be put on this act; and it was this view, among many others, which led him to oppose the act of compromise. He was very sure that there was no such construction in the mind of the Senator from Kentucky, and that nothing could be further from the intention of the gentlemen around him, who had voted for the bill, than to sanction such a construction as that to which he referred. Still, it was not improper for him to say, that he pointed it out as possible. He agreed as to the absolute necessity of calling for the imputed construction, and, if it should be found to be true, then, unlesss Congress gives immediate relief, cotton interests are struck down by this one deadly blow of Treasury construction, and millions on millions would be insufficient to repair the mischief which would thus be done. It was a construction which had come upon those interested, like a shock, as if all these great interests had, by one attack, been undermined and sunk into the earth.

Opposed as he had been, and, in candor he would say, opposed as he still was, to the bill of the last session, even when rightly constructed, he could not justly charge upon the act such a construction as that now imputed to have been put on it by the Secretary. He knew no such construction was intended; although he had seen that, by possibility, such a construction might be put upon it. He hoped that the resolution would be adopted, and that the Senate would have the official construction of the Secretary. He also hoped that it would turn out that a false impression had been made on the minds of those who were most immediately interested, and that their apprehensions would prove to have been without foundation or truth.

Mr. Forsyth said it would have been kinder to censure what was done, after it had been ascertained what had been done. He suggested a limitation of the inquiry to the act of the last session, in order to avoid any unnecessary delay.

Mr. Frelinghuysen replied, that the resolution had referrence only to that act, and that the comprehensiveness of the title of that act had led the Senator from Georgia into an error.

The resolution was then agreed to.

Galignani's Paris Messenger, says—

"The Royal Library at Paris, on 1st January, 1833, contained 1,985,000 volumes, including manuscripts, books of engravings, and numismatical works. On the 1st January, 1834, it will contain at least 2,000,000 volumes, as every year on an average 20,000 new works are deposited there."

LATER FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the packet ship Manchester, Capt. Wiederholt, at N. York, from Havre, advices from the French metropolis to the 15th of November, inclusive, are received.

M. Lionne, editor of the Tribune, was found guilty on the 12th of Nov. of a libel, in that paper, on the king's person, and attacking the inviolability of throne. He was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, and a fine of twenty four thousand francs. The editors who had copied the offensive article were acquitted. The conductors of several of the other papers had also been punished by fine and imprisonment.

The elections for the provincial councils had generally terminated in favor of the existing order of things in the kingdom.

Considerable excitement had prevailed at Paris and Lyons among the operative mechanics and manufacturers, and some of the trades had turned out. They had found, however, that more was lost than gained by it, and had generally returned to their work. The journeymen bakers formed an exception, many of whom were arrested, and taken to the prefecture of police.

The stocks, and particularly the Spanish securities, had somewhat advanced. On 14th Nov. Five per cents were 102f. 15c. Threes 74f. 40c.

SPAIN.

The latest accounts represent the affairs of the Queen as more favorable than heretofore. The rumor that St. Sebastian had fallen into the hands of the Carlists is contradicted, and in the unimportant engagements that had taken place, the troops of the Queen had been generally victorious.

The intervention of France in the contest is suspended.

Gen. Sarsfield was on his march from Madrid to Navarre and the Basque provinces, with an imposing force, consisting, it is said, of about 15,000 men.

A letter from Bayonne of the 9th of Nov. says: "At Bilboa, the goods of several persons, who had sufficient courage to refuse payment of the rebel contributions, have been sold at auction. The near approach of Sarsfield was publicly announced by the rebels themselves, but they at the same time declared that before they fled to the mountains, they would plunder the town without mercy. M. Mola and M. Thagan are still in confinement, and apprehensions are entertained that the latter may fall a victim to the hatred of the Carlists.—El Albuelo, who was formerly a chief of the partisans, has made his submission to the Queen. At Oviedo, San Jago, Valladolid, and other places, the Royalist Volunteers have been disarmed without resistance. With the exception of the insurrection of the northern provinces and the band of Merino, the accounts are generally favorable."

The Madrid Gazette of the 31st October, announces that Majorca, Ceuta, Galicia, Catalonia, Navarre, Andalusia, Grenada, Estremadura, Arragon, and Old Castile, remained perfectly tranquil.

GERMANY.

The Germanic Diet, held at Frankfort, has refused to grant a passage for the Poles into England without guarantees, which Switzerland, or rather Berne, cannot consent to give. There is, however, some prospect of a permission for a passage through France, but only for the volunteers.

The Second Chamber of the States General, at Wirtemburg, has passed a resolution to petition the government to abolish the censorship of the press.

An insurrection has broken out at Presburg and Erlau, in Hungary. The soldiers fired on the citizens, and numbers were killed. It was said the Government had ordered the Diet to close its session, and numerous regiments to march on the disaffected point.

SWEDEN.

The cholera has broken out at Drameix in Sweden. Out of 157 patients, 82 had died, and 35 recovered. In the suburbs of Christiana there had been within a few days, 78 cases and 34 deaths.

GREECE.

A ship which left Nauplia on the 8th of October, and arrived at Trieste, reports that disorder was very general in Greece, and that the roads were dangerous. Within a few weeks, a party of English travelers, were attacked by a band of robbers at six miles from Nauplia; their escort was murdered, and themselves plundered of every thing. The band was composed partly of the former followers of Colocotroni and Coliopulos, and partly of Palicari, who come from beyond the mountains, and who, whether alone or with their present comrades, pursue the same lawless course. We have good tidings of the king; he is received every where with enthusiasm. It is said he is about to visit some of the Ionian Islands; his Majesty left Nauplia the day before the arrests took place.

The Semaphore of Marseilles says: "Letters dated October 14th from Canea, give some particulars relating to the disturbed state of that Island Twelve thousand Greeks had assembled in the village of Maurnies, and were on the point of being joined by between 3 and 4,000 more. The public mind appeared to be in a state of great ferment, and without any hope, except in the intervention of the French and English admirals, of finding relief from the ills with which they were threatened."

Correspondence of the Baltimore Patriot.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10, 1834.

The proceedings in both Houses, to day, as you will see by the report in the Intelligencer, are interesting and important in their general bearing upon the nation.

There is no news to night, of moment to inform you of;—Mr. Calhoun, it is believed, will speak on Monday—Shepley, of Maine, made an attempt for the floor, but could not get it. Black, of Missouri, will go against the Administration on the Deposits Question. The Eighth of January dinner here was a complete failure. The K. C. are dreadfully chagrined at the failure of Mr. Cambreleng's motion for the Previous Question; and the friends of the Constitution are elated by the defeat; and also at the success of the new Governor in the Old Dominion, who is decidedly opposed to the Jackson Van Buren policy, which is now desolating the best interests of the country.

The splendid speeches of Binney and Southard will appear in a day or two, in the Intelligencer, as they were delivered. Wait for them, I pray you, and pay no attention to those skeletons that are published in the Globe.

From the Montreal Herald, Jan. 4.

United States.—We have lately adverted to the removal of the public moneys from the United States Bank, the place appointed by law for their deposit. Borrowing, from what had recently transpired in that country, an answer to those who so blindly advocate Republican Institutions, and showing that the Government of the United States is not, in fact, that responsible form of Government which they so loudly and so frequently insisted on. We find the view which we took of the late occurrences, is by no means confined to ourselves. The lesson which General Jackson has taught the American people has not been thrown away upon the people of England. Those among them who were disposed to abjure the old slow and sure system, which has placed the British Government upon so enviable an eminence of reputation, for honor in all her views, and integrity in all her transactions, have suddenly been induced to doubt the soundness of principles borrowed from the revolutionary school of France, which, whilst they pleased by their novelty, could never stand the test of impartial investigation. The happiest effects will unquestionably follow to good Old England, (effects of which we shall not ourselves be entirely deprived) from the striking contrast so recently displayed, between the principles professed, and the actual practice, of a Republican Government.

From the National Gazette, Jan. 11.

We learn that the statement of the affairs of the Bank of the United States, at the commencement of this year, was highly satisfactory, and furnishes new grounds of confidence in the strength and resources of that great institution. It seems—

That the net profits of the last six months, were	$1,501,199 21
From which, deducting the dividend of 3 1-2 per cent.,	1,225,000 00
There remains a surplus of profit on the operations of the half year, amounting to	276,199 21

We learn, moreover, that the reserved funds of the Bank are as follows:

For several years past a contingent fund to repair all the losses of the Bank, has been accumulating till it has reached the sum,	$5,638,688 60
The total of these losses is ascertained by rigorous examinations to amount to	5,494,376 22
Leaving a surplus of	$144,312 38
The banking houses cost originally	$1,220,149 51
There has been appropriated out of the earnings of the Bank—a sinking fund to extinguish this cost—which now amounts to	976,199 59
Leaving the present cost at	244,029 92
Being 20 per cent. of the original cost.
The estimated value of these buildings, in Jan. 1834, is	$914,445 08
Their present reduced cost	244,029 92
Leaving a surplus of	670,415 16
To this is to be added the amount of the profits, undivided and disposable—forming the balance of the profit and loss account—which is	$3,152,877 78
Making a total of	3,967,605 32

being upwards of 11 per cent. on the capital.

We understand, besides, that the following is the result of the operations of the Bank, for the last 3 months, since the removal of the deposits.

The removal of the public deposits, and the pressure which makes individuals use their deposits, have occasioned a withdrawal from the Bank, since the 1st of October, of	$6,911,922 67
Thus these deposits were—
On the 1st of Oct.	$17,877,298 36
On the 1st of Jan.	10,965,375 69
In the same space the loans of every description—local loans and domestic bills—have been reduced, as follow:
October 1st,	$60,094,202 93
January 1st,	54,911,461 70
	5,182,741 23
So that the actual reduction of the business of the Bank has been less by	$1,729,181 44 than the sums actually withdrawn from it.
During the same period the Specie was—
On the 1st of October,	$10,663,441 51
On the 1st of January,	10,031,237 72
A diminution of	$632,203 79
The Notes in circulation, were—
On the 1st of October,	$19,128,189 57
On the 1st of January,	19,208,379 90
An increase of	$80,190 33

Such is the condition of that institution, which the agent of the President, Mr. Kendall, so recently described as "a reptile beneath the feet of the Secretary of the Treasury, which he (the Secretary) could crush at will—which existed only by his forbearance, and towards which great forbearance was required to save it from destruction." There has been a transfer of forbearance, as well as of the deposits. All that the Secretary could do, to crush the institution, he has attempted; and, nevertheless, see what it still is—what stamina it retains! How sagacious and prophetic the Agent—how powerful and merciful the Secretary—how fortunate for the country their joint "foresight and energy"! They have contributed to verify their wonderful predictions; have secured the public revenue—fixed and equalized the currency; made money exuberant; filled all the channels of circulation, and created a brood of national banks, inexhaustible in specie and credit!

From whatsoever part of the country, upland or lowland, intelligence comes, it breathes but one spirit: unequivocal condemnation of the removal of the deposits. A meeting anticipated to be a very large one, was held in Petersburgh, Saturday evening, where we understand there is great unanimity in condemning the conduct of the Executive. One is called in Norfolk for this evening, at which Mr. Tazewell is expected to attend, and where likewise, there is scarcely any difference of opinion. The neighboring village of Manchester will declare her sentiments to morrow evening. An early meeting is expected in Lynchburg, Fredericksburg, and Wheeling, and the town of Staunton has already taken the field. The towns are moving, under the combined sense of extreme pressure, and indignation at usurpation. The country cannot long delay following the example. The price of wheat is knocked down to 80 or 85 cents, and all the city mills but one, we understand, have declined the purchase of wheat altogether. The crop of tobacco is about coming into market, and the Planter will be the first class in the country to experience the sad revolution in his prospects. —Richmond Whig.

Extracts from the Baltimore Prices Current, and Review of the Market, for the week ending Friday evening, January 10.

GENERAL REMARKS.—The harbor and river have been frozen over since our last weekly report, but the channel is kept open by the steam tow boat Relief, and vessels are daily arriving and departing, through her aid, without any delay.

Money continues scarce. There are but few articles in our Prices Current that would not be sold under the quoted rates, for cash, if it were offered, but the very limited amount of money available for such purposes, and the presence of a season when business is always inactive, have circumscribed transactions within a very narrow compass. Both buyers and sellers, from prudential motives, seem to avoid, as far as possible, transactions on time.

COFFEE—Sales of 200 to 300 bags of Rio Coffee, of the recent imports, at 12 1-2 cents; and small lots of old crop at 12 cents.

COTTON—The sales which have come to our knowledge comprize about 50 bales of Upland, part very prime, at 13 1-2 a 14 1-2 cents per lb.

HOWARD STREET FLOUR—The operations of the market are much impeded from the scarcity of money. In the early part of the week, sales from stores were made at $5 12 1-2, and by the dray load, at $5 25. Since then, sales of parcels have been made at $5 12 1-2 on 60 days; and yesterday and this morning, several parcels were sold at $5, for cash. This last named rate may be considered the fair cash quotation to day. The wagon price has experienced a further decline. At the beginning of the week, it was uniformly $5, but to day we find that while that price continues to be paid by some, others are paying but $4 75, and will not buy at any higher price. A large part of the receipts continue to go into store on the country owners' account.

SUGARS—We hear of no sales worth reporting. The market for this, as for most other articles, is, for the present, at a stand.

WHISKEY—At the beginning of the week, a sale of hhds. was made at 25 cents, on 60 days' credit. Since then, we have heard of no sales of hhds., but they could be bought to day at 23 cents. The wagon price of bbls. opened and has continued at 20 cents, exclusive of the barrel; sales from stores have been made at 24 a 25 cents, according to quality. The inspections of the week comprize 106 hbds. and 1,379 bbls.; of which 79 hhds. were from the Susquehanna.

WAGON FREIGHTS—Continue at $1 75 per 100 lbs. to Wheeling, and $1 50 to Pittsburgh.—American.

J. APPLETON'S LATE IMPROVED
WASHING MACHINE.

THIS valuable improvement has been preferred by all who have used it to any other machine of the kind yet offered to the public.—It is expeditious, without injuring the clothes washed, as will be seen in the certificates below. All those who wish to save labor in washing, will please to call and see the operation, at the Masinon House, corner of Wood and Fifth streets. Machines, and the right of counties for sale—Machines 12 dollars—and at any persons service for trial. Dec. 31, 1833.

We have had in use Appleton's Patent Washing Machine, and do not hesitate to say that it is preferable to any that we have seen or used. A woman can wash as much in one day, with the machine, as she could in three by the hand, and only half the soap is necessary. We think it clears the clothes better than hand washing, without injury to them. We have also used Barnes' Patent Steam Washing Machine, called Peg Machine, but give Appleton's the preference. It washes cleaner and faster; therefore we recommend Appleton's Machine to the public in general.

Lucy Higginbotham, Elizabeth McKim.
Robert Poore,

We have in use Appleton's Patent Washing Machine. It is so simple in its construction that it may be used by any unskilful hand, and we do recommend it as a great saving of time and labor.

Edmund Henderson, M. Gretter,
A. Robinson, James Fisher,
George Greenhow, Isaac White.

Hamilton County Agricultural Society.

It is hereby certified, that the Judges, appointed by the Hamilton County Agricultural Society, for the exhibition, held at Mill Creek, on the second of October, 1833, having awarded that Appleton's Washing Machine, submitted to the Society, on trial, appeared to their satisfaction to be of utility as a labor saving machine in domestic economy—they unhesitatingly recommend it to their fellow citizens—in testimony whereof, this Certificate is given. FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases. and is a pleasant medicine to take.
